MEETING TO DECIDE ON DEVALUATION

Gold Content of 'New Dollar' Probably Will Be Announced Today Following Conference.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(P)—The federal government tonight took title to all the nation's monetary gold and President Roosevelt prepared to follow this unprecedented step with action devaluing the dollar in the hope of forcefully stimulating the present upward movement in prices.

He summoned his monetary advisers to a meeting tomorrow afternoon, at which it was generally expected the dollar's new gold content would be determined. If the extent of devaluation is agreed upon it will be announced at a press conference set for later in the day.

Receiving his satisfaction and exchanging jokes with his newspapermen, the chief executive signed the new monetary bill, authorizing these steps, in mid-afternoon today, remarking that it was "the nicest birthday present" he had ever received and saying that the next thing on the program was to get the gold under the authority of the treasury.

Black Photographers came in to take the picture of the signing ceremony Governor Black of the federal reserve board was standing directly behind the president.

"The captain of this picture," said the president with a twinkle, "is the chairman of the federal reserve board compelling the president of the United States to sign the gold bill."

The law gives the treasury title to all gold stocks, including chiefly $3,500,000,000 held by the federal reserve banks and the transfer of which was opposed by reserve system officials in private advice to the president prior to the drafting of the bill and in testimony before congressional committees.

With this metal added to the stocks it already holds, the treasury owns now more than $4,011,000,000 worth, figured at the current market price of $20.67 an ounce. When the dollar is revalued at a maximum of 60 per cent of its present gold equivalent, this gold supply will be worth at least $7,219,800,000.

Fund To Be Set Up. From the profit thus accruing, a fund of two billion dollars will be established, with Secretary Morgenthau in charge, and used to keep the foreign value of the dollar as nearly as possible at the point which the administration believes to be to the best advantage of the country.

With the explicit approval of President Roosevelt, he can use the money also to purchase government bonds, providing a weapon for keeping quotations on these securities stable through the next few months in which nine billion dollars must be borrowed by the government.

The fund and the provisions of the bill for its supervision were roundly assailed by conservatives in congress, who held that the measure thus vested too much power in one man and that all expenditures from the fund would automatically serve to increase bank reserves and thus provide the basis for a dangerously expensive expansion of credit.

Recovery Push Seen. Confidently expecting the fund, combined with the devaluation of the dollar, to give the nation a strong push toward recovery, Secretary Morgenthau is ready to carry it into operation and non-committal on the prospects of a monetary war with England, which has an equally large stabilization fund.

"We're ready," he said today, as soon as the bill was signed, the

6 CWA GRAFT CASES FACE PROSECUTION

Federal Agency Continues Investigation of Works Complaints.

By C. P. WILLIAMSON.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Criminal prosecution in six cases involving complaints of graft in the civil works administration were ordered tonight by the division of investigation of the public works administration.

At the request of Harry L. Hopkins, civil works administrator, the division of the public works has taken over the task of investigating the list of complaints claiming labor preferences or graft in connection with civil works.

Of the six cases which the division instructed its local investigators to place in the hands of United States attorneys, three are in Kentucky, one in Maryland, one in Arkansas and one in Indiana.

The division is investigating more than 175 complaints with regard to civil works in 45 states. When the civil works unit to investigate the charges, they embraced all states except Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont, and it was said tonight that there were still no complaints from those three states.

Kentucky Charges 'Serious.' Officials of the division of investigation declined to discuss the nature of the charges in which prosecution will be pressed in Kentucky beyond saying they were "of a serious nature."

The case in Maryland involved the misuse of a civil works administration requisition for supplies, it being charged that the requisition was presented to a liquor dealer and liquor obtained with it.

The case in Arkansas involved an official of the civil works unit who was said to be obtaining part of a work order's pay.

The Indiana case involved pay roll irregularities. Officials said they could not discuss the case.

The sheriff quoted Lambert as saying he wanted to be returned to Alabama and "get it over with."

Alabama deputies will take Lambert back to answer charges of murder. Sheriff Wilson said Lambert confessed killing a man named Peyton Bone to avenge an attack on his brother, Ross Lambert, who later was killed in a fall from a freight train in Montana.

25,000 To Be Given Jobs for Year; Atterbury Chides Laggards.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 30.—(AP)—President W. W. Atterbury, of the Pennsylvania railroad, said today the company will start next week its comprehensive electrification and equipment-building program, giving a year's work to nearly 25,000 men on the railroad and in industrial plants.

General Atterbury, in telling of the program, took occasion to point out that heavy industry is not keeping up with other industries in the march back to prosperity.

"Simultaneously with the start of electrification work," he said, "construction will be gotten under way on 7,000 all-steel freight cars, and later on 101 electric freight, passenger and switching locomotives—representing the largest single equipment program ever inaugurated by any railroad at one time."

Too Far Below. "Heavy industry is lagging," General Atterbury went on. "The coal, steel and other industries, such as food, clothing and products that wear out, are 10 to 15 per cent below normal, but heavy industry is about 63 per cent below."

Bring this up to about 90 per cent of normal; stimulus will be given to other industries and we will be getting on our feet.

Atlanta's Elaborate Parties Among 6,000 in Nation

Spontaneous Response to Charity Appeal Attests to City's Affection for Roosevelt.

In Atlanta's Shrine mosque, Standard Club and Peachtree Gardens ballrooms several thousand Atlantans danced Tuesday night in celebration of a president's birthday, while from their roofs thousands of humble homes scattered over the nation, the victims of infantile paralysis, unable to dance, gave thanks that a great man's interest in the cure of the disease may mean their salvation.

It was Roosevelt night from coast to coast, and the dance scenes in this city were similar to those throughout the country, including the rural communities. Starting in modest fashion, the Roosevelt birthday balls gained such tremendous momentum up to the brilliant climax Tuesday night that Cator Woolford, a member of the national committee, predicted that the sum realized from the more than 6,000 entertainments would total $2,000,000 or more.

Advance sales of tickets had been under way for days, and although many persons bought their tickets Tuesday, the sales at the doors as the balls got under way more than exceeded expectations of the committee.

Outside of Washington thousands danced at some 6,000 balls given in honor of the president and for his afflicted friends. The line of celebrations ranged from the brilliant lights of Broadway to the campfires of the Navajo Indians and from the frozen

Amy Explains Reason For Fleeing 'Gangsters'

PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 30.

(P)—Mrs. Amy Johnson Mollison, British aviatrix, commenting tonight on her arrest for reckless driving at Fort Lauderdale Monday, said she had fled from arresting officers because she feared they were gangsters. They were in civilian clothes, she said.

Two men stopped her, she said, and because they were too "harsh and discourteous" to be police—she based her judgment on her knowledge of police in England—she drove off.

They pursued and caught her. She hit one of them and tried to escape, she said, but was taken to jail.

The aviatrix was fined $50 and costs.

TWO ARE WOUNDED IN 'GANG' SHOOTING

Men Felled as Guns Are Fired Through Windows of Beer Saloon.

Gangster guns blazed through the plate glass windows of a beer saloon on South Pryor street Tuesday night, felling two men and wounding another.

Murray's Place, operated at the intersection of Pryor street and Ridge avenue by Murray W. Harmon, convicted bootlegger, was the scene of a sudden fusillade from shotgun and pistol, directed from the street by two overalled men who were described as strangers to the place.

Aubrey Sikes, 34, of 1004 Pryor street, S. W., and Roy Evans, 29, the father of two small children residing at 1020 Ridge avenue, were the victims.

Sikes and Evans were drinking beer at about 10:30 o'clock when two men entered and engaged them in conversation. Fred Boyd, of 1010 Pryor street, an employee of Murray's, said later he had never seen the men before. An argument ensued while the men stood around a stove in front of the bar. One of the strangers left the group and joined another man on the sidewalk in front.

Both men on the sidewalk then

Hotel 'Badger Game' Costs Visitor $6,500

Two personable young women and a man victimized C. P. Ballenger, prominent road contractor of Greenville, S. C., in his room in a downtown hotel Tuesday night, knocked him unconscious with a heavy water pitcher and robbed him of certified checks drawn on the Georgia highway department totaling $6,400, and $100 in cash.

Ballenger, who recently completed several projects for the highway department, told the police that he formed the acquaintance of a pretty young woman in the lobby of the hotel shortly after dinner and invited her to his room to have a drink.

The woman called. In a few minutes Ballenger admitted a large, heavily built man who identified himself as the "house detective." Ballenger said he told the man he was a personal friend of the owner of the hotel, and offered to call him and establish his identity. He walked to the room telephone, he said, and was making a call when the man slugged him with his fist. When he turned, he went down under a blow from a heavy glass water pitcher, suffering nine cuts about the head which required the attention of the house physician.

When he regained consciousness he discovered that two checks drawn on the Georgia highway department, for $3,500, and for $2,900, were missing from his effects, as was his billfold containing $100 in cash.

WARMER WEATHER IS DUE HERE TODAY

15 to 18 Degree Minimum Slated With Mercury Rise to 45 During Day.

Clutching Dixie to its icy breast while the country at its back began to react to warmer weather, the cold wave Tuesday sent the mercury down to a hard-freezing -1 degree level and threatened another sub-freezing minimum of 15 to 18 degrees for this morning.

George W. Mindling, United States meteorologist, said that the cold weather is breaking up in the northwest, and that Atlanta will receive a visit from the rear guard of the freezing wave this morning, with warming conditions due to set in during the day.

Fire department officials reported that in the 24 hours ended at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning a total of 47 alarms were received. The previous record was 38 alarms in 24 hours.

Exposure placed three negroes in Grady hospital and was responsible for one fatality, the police reported. A negro identified as Henry Strickland, 205 Davis street, was found frozen to death on Haynes street. Physicians expressed the opinion that the negro fainted while at work and froze before his condition was discovered by passers-by.

An attempt to "warm up" on the part of J. H. Craig, of an Atlanta hotel, Tuesday brought Craig to Grady hospital with what physicians said was wood alcohol poisoning. Craig told physicians that he had taken a

Hitler Denies Fostering Plot Against Austrian Sovereignty

Chancellor Extols Germany's Peace Efforts in Report on First Year of Nazi Rule.

BERLIN, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler vigorously extolled today Germany's efforts during the first year of Nazi rule to help the cause of world peace.

"The allegation of the Austrian government that any attack by the reich is being undertaken or even planned against Austria must be rejected most sharply," the chancellor insisted, taking cognizance of the Austrian chancellor's warning that trouble "was brewing on the Nazi front on or about January 30."

With pride Hitler referred to a recently signed German-Polish non-aggression pact and the reich's cordial relations with Italy.

On the debit side he acknowledged the difficulties with Russia, Austria and France, but expressed the hope that differences with those countries could be satisfactorily adjusted.

Equality Inevitable.

No one will have the power, however, he told the wildly-cheering members of the reichstag, gathered to hear an account of his 12-month stewardship as chancellor, to prevent Germany from getting equality eventually. He welcomed the friendly offers of Great Britain to mediate in the Franco-German deadlock.

Much of his fervent address was devoted to a review of the conditions leading to the Nazis' attainment of power, to a scathing denunciation of his political opponents, and to exuberant praise for domestic achievements in the first year.

A feature of the speech was his frank announcement that monarchism was beyond the pale of discussion. Then, with a roar of enthusiasm, the brown-shirted assembly dispatched a law for "the reconstruction of the reich," which was hailed as guaranteeing "the glory and greatness of Germany forever."

The measure will abolish the national assembly of German states, will make the federal government superior to the states, and subordinate

GOERING TO SMASH MONARCHIST GROUPS

BERLIN, Jan. 30.—(AP)—A decision to "ruthlessly destroy" monarchist organizations was announced today by Dr. Herman Goering, premier of Prussia and minister without portfolio in the national government.

"Evidence has been accumulating of unseemly monarchist propaganda, especially among the young," Goering wrote Dr. Wilhelm Frick, minister of the interior, "and new organizations have been springing up with an aim of thwarting the Nazi movement."

"I therefore propose, my dear minister, to dissolve forthwith all monarchist organizations and warn against any attempt to revive them," Goering said.

He said the monarchist groups were a danger to the federal government.

Not Satisfactory.

"To the German government's great regret," he said, "its relations with the present Austrian government are not satisfactory."

"The fault is not ours. The assertion that Germany plans to violate Austria is absurd and incapable of proof."

"But it is only natural that an idea which has deeply stirred and permeated the German nation would not halt at the frontier posts of a country which for centuries was an integral part of the German empire."

"If the present Austrian government thinks it necessary to suppress this movement forcibly it is its own affair, but it will have to bear the consequences."

In revealing further the relations with neighboring countries, the chancellor noted a decided progress in the case of Polish friendship and pledged Nazi efforts in promoting the economic well-being of the two nations.

He warned Russia that communist propaganda would be suppressed in Germany.

Plebiscite Opposed.

France, he said regretfully, "does not yet see" the wisdom of a German proposal for an agreement as a substitute for a plebiscite in which inhabitants of the Saar Basin territory will next year determine whether the area will become French or German.

No other territorial differences exist between France and Germany, Hitler went on. This, he added, promised well for the future peace.

Germany does not want to threaten French security, he continued, and is "ready to do everything in her power to prove" the statement.

"But," he maintained, "Germany demands equality."

"Nobody in the world has the right to deny this to a great nation. Anybody would have the power to prevent it permanently."

War Not Wanted.

A new war is wanted by nobody, and would lead to international chaos.

SALES TAX DEFEAT

Senator Kyle To Call Up Motion to Reconsider Vote on State Levy.

By The Associated Press.

Liquor control and taxation occupied the attention of the South Carolina and Mississippi legislatures some more today.

In Mississippi Senator John Kyle, of the upper house finance committee, announced a would call up today a motion to reconsider the vote by which the state two per cent sales tax bill was defeated last week.

Senator W. B. Roberts, of the same state, disclosed he would ask the upper chamber of the Mississippi legislature today to go "squarely on record" for or against his proposal to legalize sale by the state of hard liquor.

In South Carolina, meanwhile, another liquor proposal in the form of a resolution which would send the whole question of control to the voters in the summer democratic primaries was introduced upon the scene and referred to the house judiciary committee.

The South Carolina house adopted resolutions urging United States adherence to the World Court and asking the government to exchange homes and farms for World War veterans' bonus certificates.

In Virginia, two sharp fights on a resolution to set up a dispensary system of liquor control over salaries of control board members and division of the revenue between the state and the localities—delayed action by the house of delegates and over 50 amendments remained on the desk when adjournment was taken.

The only territorial question still open between France and Germany.

"After its solution Germany is ready to accept the Locarno treaty (which binds the signatories to arbitrate disputes) in its aspects."

He outlined two tasks:

"The co-ordination of all forces in an organizational form which at the same time would be neglected in half a century through selfishness and incompetency."

"The advancement of the welfare of our people in all fields of human life and the advancement of culture based on high morality."

His administration, he declared proudly, "removed in one year a world of concepts and institutions and put others in their places."

Misery prevalent before the Nazis' advent gave way to "humanity" searches for a new well-being. Nazism, he insisted, was a victorious work against communism.

drink out of a bottle to keep warm. His condition was pronounced critical.

Two deaths were reported in Birmingham as due directly to the coldest weather of the season.

R. A. Adams, 76, employed by the L. & N. railroad, slipped on ice as he was en route to work and died from his injuries.

Police found an unidentified negro frozen to death in a house in one of the negro sections of the city.

Motorists and property owners Tuesday experienced another hard day as frozen radiators, motors and water pipes gave out.

Automobile owners, finding their batteries unequal to the task of starting a cold motor, were met by statements of their neighbors that their own cars were frozen up or drained and that a starting push was not to be had.

Although Atlantans, nursing colds and feet, complained against the drop, the weather bureau said that no records were broken by the day's thermometer readings, as the coldest January day on record was in 1880, when the mercury read 2 degrees.

The thermometer went down to 6 degrees on February 9 of last year.

As soon as the cold wave goes by today, Atlanta will be given the days of mild weather, Mr. Mindling said. He expects the mercury to reach at least 45 degrees this afternoon and that that the temperature may not go below freezing Thursday morning.

Hourly readings of the thermometer Tuesday were as follows:

1 a. m. .... 14° 1 p. m. .... 19°
2 a. m. .... 12° 2 p. m. .... 22°
3 a. m. .... 11° 3 p. m. .... 24°
4 a. m. .... 10° 4 p. m. .... 25°
5 a. m. .... 9° 5 p. m. .... 25°
6 a. m. .... 8° 6 p. m. .... 25°
7 a. m. .... 7° 7 p. m. .... 25°
8 a. m. .... 7° 8 p. m. .... 25°
9 a. m. .... 10° 9 p. m. .... 19°
10 a. m. .... 15° 10 p. m. .... 18°
11 a. m. .... 15° 11 p. m. .... 18°
12 noon .... 17° Midnight .... 15°

Although the temperatures ranged lower Tuesday, they were not felt much more than on Monday because the steady northwest winds, which chilled bones to the marrow on Monday, diminished Tuesday morning from a 20-mile velocity to a 12-mile-per-hour gale.

Tuesday's freeze reached well into south Georgia, with Tampa, Fla., reporting the mercury at only 2 degrees above freezing, or 34 degrees. Augusta reported 14 degrees, Birmingham 10, Charleston 8, Asheville 6, Chattanooga 8, Little Rock 14, Macon 14, Miami 12, Montgomery 18, Nashville 6, New Orleans 30, Pensacola 20, Raleigh 8, St. Louis 6, Minneapolis 6 below, St. Marie, Mich. 12 below, Port Arthur 20 below and Chicago 2 below.

Observer Mindling said that the cold snap probably will benefit the peach crop, as the trees had not advanced enough for blooms to be injured, but that the cold wave will retard blooming and insure the growers that the trees will be held in check until the proper time for blooming. Another week or so of mild weather would have put the trees in danger of the first cold snap, he said.

wonder if Virginia Bruce, Jack Gilbert's only wife and the last mother of his baby, walked the floor that night, too. All their same, quiet plans were being swept away.

Gilbert returned to the studio full of enthusiasm. One of the things that had interfered with his earlier efforts towards a comeback had been the difficulty of getting people to picture him as a serious actor.

Not much money as before. M-G-M. tried to keep Garbo here, for although she was slipping, she still played the picture of major importance. But the "divine one" scrambled.

There was a crisis. The studio tried to return her former employers were in a queer spot. Garbo was too good to be permitted to fall into the hands of a rival. She was still personally. But she had slipped at the box office. Had the public lost all interest in her?

Finally Garbo announced a willingness to return. Her former employers were in a queer spot. Garbo was too good to be permitted to fall into the hands of a rival. She was still personally. But she had slipped at the box office. Had the public lost all interest in her?

Unlabeled Life.

Because the private life of Garbo struck so close a parallel to that of her audience, the unlabelled heroine of the screen, she was difficult to dig up a love interest. There had been the occasional rumors of romance with Swedish millionaires or princes, but never developed and members of the blood royal are not likely to give an encore of love's old sweet song just to satisfy the curiosity of a picture.

When Garbo first came to this country she had been dependent upon a young publicity man assigned to attendance upon Maurice Stiller. He and she were a whirlwind romance who had adored her at first sight. She had liked him, but that flame bright could not be fanned brightly enough to dazzle the country.

Then there was John Gilbert. Gilbert had given up thoughts of acting and was quietly preparing himself for the work of direction. His private life also was more serene. He had married Virginia Bruce. There was a youngster at home. It seemed that at last Gilbert was a fairly man.

But the publicity men rolled up their sleeves and began stirring the ashes of the dead affair between Garbo and Gilbert.

Publicity could be more appealing than to have Garbo remember the former sweetheart who had been the benefactor of her earlier career and to repay his kindness by making him her lover.

Gilbert Believed.

Hurt Building Affairs Discussed at Meeting

Matters affecting the administration of affairs of the Hurt building were discussed Tuesday at a conference of Judge E. E. Pomeroy, of superior court, with Walter C. Hendrix, one of the receivers of the building; W. C. Wardlaw, chairman of the Atlanta bondholders' committee, and other interested parties in which the building is involved.

The principal point of discussion was the proposed distribution of about $800,000 by the bondholders. Hendrix reporting to the court that the receivers have invested $800,000 in school notes which will mature February 1 and that there is a cash balance of $100,000 in the building.

The question of the $3,000,000 fire insurance carried on the building also was discussed. Attorney Marion Smith, of counsel for the receivers, expressed the opinion that this amount might well be reduced to $2,500,000.

Judge Pomeroy requested the receivers to go into the insurance problem and report to him on February 12 when another conference to consider distribution of the fund will be held.

Frank N. Doubleday, Noted Publisher, Dies

MIAMI, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Frank Nelson Doubleday, 72, prominent New York publisher, died here late today.

Although Mr. Doubleday had been ill for several months, death was due to an internal hemorrhage, came unexpectedly. Mrs. Florence Doubleday, the wife, was at the bedside.

The Doubledays came here a month ago and rented a house for the winter season.

A son, Nelson W., and a daughter, Mrs. Huntington Babcock, both of New York City, were en route to Miami, but efforts were being made to reach them. A brother, Russell W., of Glen Cove, N. Y., also survives the veteran book and magazine publisher.

Burned in Home Here, Girl, 5, Dies at Grady

Betty Grace Smith, 5, of Camp McElroy, was burned fatally Tuesday morning when her clothes caught fire from a stove at her home.

The child died Tuesday morning at Grady hospital.

Lizzie Johnson, negro nursemaid, threw water on the little girl's blazing garments and fought the fire with her hands, finally extinguishing the flames. The child's mother died at Grady hospital five months ago.

Her father, Charles B. Smith, survives, as do two brothers, Charles Jr. and David Smith, and a sister, Ruth J. Austin Dillon will announce funeral arrangements.

Industry must have courage to do likewise, he said.

"What the Pennsylvania is doing is a step in the direction of helping heavy industry," he pointed out. "If done here, it will be to start on replacing worn-out tools and improving run-down plants on which little has been done in four years, it will not be able to compete with the same industries in other countries."

Others Advanced.

General Atterbury said he found the railroad's business improved about 21 per cent over that of a year ago, and that this held about true for business generally throughout the country except for heavy industry.

He said the first step in the electrification work will be to start on the uncompleted New York-Washington project. It is completed from New York to Wilmington, Del., and 108 miles from Wilmington to Washington. The road hopes to have passenger and freight electrified service from New York to Washington completed by next year.

Of the 250 miles of line to be put to work, about half will be furnished by railroad men.

NEGRO LYNCHED BY MOB IN TAMPA

Sholtz Promises Atlatan Thorough Probe Will Be Instituted.

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Hillsborough county authorities, ordered to act by Governor Dave Sholtz, said today a lynching of a negro here by a mob of unmasked men will be "thoroughly investigated" tomorrow by the county grand jury as well as by a coroner's jury.

Robert Johnson, negro, was shot five times and killed early today. Deputy Constable T. M. Graves said the mob took the negro from him as he was transferring the man from the jail to the county jail between 2:30 and 3:15 a. m. He said he was forced to accompany the lynchers while they took the negro to a wooded section on the outskirts of the city.

Johnson, arrested Sunday for an alleged attempt at a criminal attack on a young white woman, also was charged in two warrants with petty larceny in connection with stealing chickens. Officers said the young woman had identified clothing worn by Johnson as the same as that worn by her attacker, but the criminal case still was under investigation. They said Johnson was being transferred from one jail to another.

ATLANTA IS PROMISED THOROUGH GOING PROBE

Governor Dave Sholtz, of Florida, wired the Association of Southern Women for Prevention of Lynching in Atlanta, Tuesday, an assurance that the state would make every effort to arrest and punish this responsible for a lynching in Tampa.

The telegram, addressed to Mrs. Jessie Daniel Ames, executive director of the association, was in reply to one of the organization's leaders urging decisive action in the case. The governor's reply read:

"The deplorable lynching which took place in Tampa early this morning caused me a great deal of pain and warning or knowledge of this office that it was anticipated. So there was no occasion or opportunity to prevent it by the use of troops. I have directed both the sheriff and the state attorney to make a speedy and complete investigation to the end that justice may be meted out to these murderers in accordance with the laws of the state and I will use every power at my command to the end that the perpetrators of this crime are punished and to prevent further lynchings in Florida."

The telegram sent the governor by the women's group earlier Tuesday had pointed out that the Florida chief executive only last Thursday told a committee there would be no lynchings if he had "two hours to get troops to the scene of the disturbance" and that he would use his power to the utmost to punish lynchings.

The telegram follows:

"Last Thursday you assured a committee headed by Mrs. William Cornell, of Jacksonville, chairman of the Florida council for the prevention of lynching, that while you are governor of Florida, there would be no lynchings if you had two hours to get troops to the scene of the disturbance and that the law gave you sufficient power to apprehend and punish lynchings which you would use to the utmost should a lynching occur in Florida during your administration. You, by your own words, have the power by law to show the country what one determined chief executive of the state can do to uphold the dignity of the law under all conditions."

"At 3 o'clock this morning, there was a lynching in Tampa."

Bremers Close Doors To All Save Hopes

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 30.—(AP)—The Bremer family again denied themselves to all visitors save intimate friends today, but had not abandoned all hope for the safe return of kidnapped Edward G. Bremer.

It was admitted by friends that the spirit of optimism prevalent among the family yesterday was somewhat dampened as the fourteenth day since Bremer's abduction passed without developments.

The plea of Aroloph Bremer, wealthy banker, for prompt return of his son has gone unheeded despite his assurance the $200,000 ransom was ready and would be paid upon proof that his 37-year-old son was still alive.

opened fire with a pump-action shotgun and a pistol, firing through the plate-glass window. Sikes went down with a full load of buckshot in the stomach. Evans suffered backshot and pistol wounds in both legs. The "stranger" who had been left behind was wounded in the arm. Clutching the arm he dashed out of the place, were out of range dived under chairs and tables. The two men who fired the shots and the third man who was wounded escaped.

The one person who witnessed the shooting, who saw the two men as they blazed away, was Gaines J. Puckett, of 1050 Ridge avenue. Puckett is deaf and dumb. Highly excited, he scribbled notes from which police men hoped to obtain a description of the men.

Boyd described the man who was shot in the arm and ran as about 5 feet 8 inches in height, weighing about 185 pounds; a brunet with a pug nose.

Sikes and Evans were taken to Grady hospital in an ambulance of J. Austin Dillon Company. Sikes' condition was critical and Evans, weakened by the loss of blood, was not questioned immediately.

COLUMBIA LAND BANK ADVANCES $7,800,000

More Than 5,000 Applications Approved in Four Southeastern States.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Through steady expansion of the mortgage refinancing services of the federal land bank of Columbia, S. C., more than 5,000 loans aggregating over $7,800,000 had been closed in the states of Georgia, Florida and the Carolinas from the first of the year to January 27. Frank H. Daniel, president of the bank, today told a joint session of land bank presidents and general agents of the 12 farm credit administrative districts held in Washington.

Mr. Daniel explained that the federal farm mortgage corporation act had been most favorably received in Georgia and the other three states in his district.

Next Thursday, the land bank presidents and general agents will consider the federal farm mortgage corporation bill, which, if passed by congress, is expected to cause a change in the procedure of making loans because farmers' creditors will be paid bonds of the corporation in lieu of cash.

"Designed to enable land banks to increase their credit services," Daniel said, "the federal farm mortgage corporation act will make possible the financing of millions of dollars of loans on the basis of the Columbia bank on applications approved, but which otherwise could not have been funded."

"Mortgages on about 350 farms and farm homes in the Columbia district are being refinanced each day and since the farm credit administration was organized last May a total of $23,000,000 has been advanced in my district."

Both borrowers and creditors, he said, have co-operated to facilitate the accomplishments of the Columbia bank, and that this co-operation was evidenced by the fact that, on 15 per cent of all mortgages refinanced, farmers secured a scale down of the claims of their creditors.

J. H. Scarborough, general agent of the Columbia district, declared that to date 115 production credit associations have been set in the district to make loans to farmers.

"With the exception of one or two counties," Scarborough said, "these associations cover Georgia and the other three states completely. These organizations, supervised by the Production Credit Corporation, of Columbia, have all been chartered, the work of organization is about complete, and applications for production loans are being received."

Uncle Sam's Mosquitoes Dine Weekly on Man's Arm

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Anyone who has ever climbed over the bedroom furniture with a folded newspaper in search of one loud buzzing little mosquito may like to hear about the job of Carroll Smith, 24.

Every seven days, winter and summer, Smith rolls up a shirt sleeve, puts on a glove, and places his arm in a cage to give 200 mosquitoes their weekly meal of blood—his blood.

That, among other things, is what Uncle Sam pays Smith for. He is employed at the agriculture department's bureau of entomology. The mosquitoes are kept for experimental purposes.

Smith says he doesn't mind the job. The welts, he says, disappear within an hour.

'SCARECROW HOUSE' DESTROYED BY FIRE, ENDING LONG FIGHT

GLEN RIDGE, N. J., Jan. 30.—(AP)—The town council will have no more trouble about "scarecrow house." The home of Mrs. Irene Warren, who spent two years making it "the ugliest house in the world," was destroyed by fire last night.

Two years ago the two-story frame house was one of the finest in the town's residential district. Its owner valued it at $30,000.

Mrs. Warren had a chance to sell it for a filling station, but the council refused to change the zone from residential to business. She decided to "take steps."

"First came a variegated paint job; red, green, yellow, black—in daubs and stripes. Futuristic paintings of dragons and pigs adorned its walls."

A clothesline was stretched in front, decorated with flapping chemises, nightgowns and long underwear. The garments were left out in all weather to collect soot and grime.

A pair of white bloomers graced a front window and the rooftop was decorated with the effigy from which the house got its name.

People came from miles around to stare, but the town council never weakened. The fire ended the feud.

Neither Mrs. Warren nor her husband, a retired businessman, were at home when the fire started. Warren fainted in a drugstore when told of it.

Mrs. Filipe has been held in the county jail since her husband was found dead in his automobile near Florence last Saturday. They were on their honeymoon trip from California to New York.

years of age and for the last 10 years he has been prominently identified with the civic and business life of the city. He was one of the organizers of the Georgia Young Democrats and is serving as the first president of the Fulton county division.

His formal announcement of his candidacy follows:

"I take this opportunity to announce my candidacy for county commissioner from the county at large."

"As a staunch advocate of the old doctrine that 'public office is a public trust,' I pledge myself to live up to both the letter and the spirit of that doctrine, if I am honored with election to the Fulton county commission."

"The records of the affairs of the county should always be open to every citizen and no attempt should ever be made to prevent the grand jury or any other body of citizens from making such investigations of county affairs as they choose to make."

"As the campaign progresses, I shall explain my position on all of the issues in detail."

"My campaign will be conducted upon a clean, high plane, and I will refrain from indulging in any personalities or 'mud slinging,' as such tactics have no proper place in such a campaign."

"I am in this race to stay and as an independent candidate with no special interest, group or faction to serve, I respectfully solicit the support of every class of citizens in the county."

Slaying Intensifies Tyrolean Excitement

VIENNA, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Reports that a customs inspector was killed at the Austro-German border near Kufstein today caused great excitement in the Tyrol, particularly in view of an already tense situation in relations of the two countries.

Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss' remark yesterday that trouble will brew "on the Nazi front" on or about January 30" was recalled today in connection with the anniversary of Chancellor Adolf Hitler's rise to power, but for the most part the event passed without serious demonstrations.

Many noise bombs were exploded and Nazi flags were flown not only in the Tyrol but in other Austrian provinces.

More than 100 Nazis were arrested, including 20 university students of both sexes, for singing Nazi songs in Vienna. Throughout many parts of Austria residents laid aside other activities to listen to Hitler's address before the reichstag.

Innsbruck and other towns were heavily patrolled by home guardsmen as a precaution against Nazi demonstrations.

Cracking of Barrier Ice Imperils Supply Camp of Byrd Expedition

BAY OF WHALES, Antarctica, (AP via MacKay Radio) Jan. 30.—Forty-four men, marooned at Pressure Camp and cut off from the flagship of Admiral Byrd's antarctic expedition, battled today for their lives and the expedition's supplies against crumbling ice and howling winds.

The ice front of this bay, where Admiral Byrd is trying to land stores for the winter camp, appeared to be collapsing, with wide crevasses yawning in the entire barrier.

A crack opened this afternoon behind the halfway relay depot, a mile and a half from Pressure Camp, a temporary base four miles from the water.

Fear was expressed by the leader that the outpost and its tons of stores, cached there for transport to the permanent base at Little America, might be lost in the relentless ice movement.

Since Wednesday the edge of the ice has moved a mile nearer the flagship and the process of dissolution appeared to be accelerating, rather than slowing down.

In the last day hundreds of cracks have opened up in the white flooring of the bay.

This morning a section anchored to the national industrial conference board, was placed at $247,000,000.00. If you wanted to buy it in 1929, it would have cost you something like $362,000,000.00.

Roughly calculating, in all good fun, the price of the whole world figures out something like $732,000,000,000.00. Now add the $300,000,000,000.00 of bank credit (supposing you had it) to the net worth of the United States and get a total of $547,000,000,000.00. That is 75 per cent of the value of the world or enough at least to buy a controlling interest in it.

If you don't want to invest in worlds, you might have a bit of fun buying a few other things. For example, if you bought all the gold that has been mined since the beginning of records, you wouldn't put much of a hole in the bank roll because it's only valued at $16,880,163,693 (before devaluation).

If one could convert bank credit to gold, he could pile up a sizeable number of gold cubes with $300,000,000,000.00. A gold cube 14.1 inches on each side weighs a ton. Your $300,000,000,000.00 of gold cubes would reach 4 miles into the air if you had the gold and if you had the $300,000,000,000.00.

In seriousness, it was pointed out, this gigantic potential bank credit paves the way for a return of prosperity and eliminates the need for printing of fiat money. The way is opened for vast expansion in industry, and if the government does not over-spend, it was said, the forward impetus should soon set in.

The board of stewards of Calvary church will form an honorary escort, as will members of the Atlanta Association of Stewards. Pallbearers will be D. P. Marbut, G. W. Marbut, J. E. Powell, R. J. Willis, C. C. Mason Sr., and H. T. Kemp.

Mr. Marbut is survived by his wife.

1 Defendant Freed In Touhy Gang Trial

CRIMINAL COURT BUILDING, CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—(AP)—One defendant was released today as the prosecution finished the evidence on which it hopes to send the other three to the electric chair for the kidnapping of John Factor.

Sixty-year-old Edward (Father Tom) McFadden walked out of court a free man after Judge Michael Feinberg granted a motion by Prosecutor Gilbert Crowley to nolle-pross charges against him.

Previously, the state had presented its own witnesses to show McFadden had been in a hospital in suburban Oak Park from June 29 through July 9. Factor was abducted July 1 and released 12 days later after $70,000 had been paid and $50,000 more promised.

There had been reports that one of the gangsters was a wood fast patient while the other two were in the hospital as his bodyguards.

Testimony against the three remaining defendants—Roger Touhy, Gus Schaefer and Albert Kato—includes a direct accusation by Factor from the witness stand that he glimpsed their faces during his imprisonment.

Immediately after the state rested its case today, McFadden was freed, Judge Feinberg adjourned court until 10 a. m. tomorrow, at which time the defense will start.

YOUTH WHO SHOT SELF WILL BE BURIED TODAY

James C. Palmer To Be Laid
To Rest at Mount Zion Church.

The funeral of James C. Palmer, 18-year-old Roswell youth who shot himself to death Monday night in the home of his sweetheart after a lovers' quarrel, will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Mount Zion church, near Dallas, Ga.

Eunice Foster, 16, in whose home the tragedy occurred, told Coroner Paul Donohoe Tuesday that neither she nor her brother, Ralph, 19, imagined that Palmer was serious when he brought a .12-gauge shotgun, single-barrel, into the living room shortly after 7 o'clock and pressed it against his heart.

A few moments earlier the boy and girl had quarreled, and Palmer, refusing some of his gifts which the girl tendered him, stalked from the room, declaring he would go out of her life forever. Living near each other about four miles beyond Buckhead, they had been friends and schoolmates for several years. Palmer made good his threat. He leaned over the gun and pulled the trigger before Eunice or Ralph, who came in the room just as the boy took the gun in hand, could divine his intent.

The girl told the coroner she had been in ill health and that her doctor had ordered rest and quiet. She said she had not intended sending James away; that he had misunderstood. She said she told him in the afternoon that he had better not come that evening, but he insisted. Ralph Foster said he thought Palmer was playing. "I saw him place the gun in a corner," he said. "When he lifted the hammer and leaned over it I made a dive for him but it was too late." The charge of shot entered the youth's heart, killing him instantly.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Palmer; two sisters and two brothers, and his grandmothers.

MERCHANTS NAMED ON CODE AUTHORITY

Announcement has just been made by the National Retail Code Authority, of Washington, D. C., with the approval of the administrator of NRA, that the following merchants shall constitute the local retail code authority, which is to assist in administering the general retail code in Atlanta:

J. P. Allen, chairman, representing department store and dry goods division; Thomas C. Dickson, vice chairman, retail furniture division; Edgar Chambers, retail clothing and furnishings; W. A. Parker, retail hardware division; J. J. Nicholson, limited price variety store division; H. K. Gargies, alternate, limited price variety store division; Paul D. MacQuiston, mail order division; Henry L. Reid, music merchants' division; John C. Sage, retail shoe division, independent; William R. Walsh, retail shoe division, chain.

Margaret Waite, art stores; R. G. Martin, paint, wall paper and glass; W. Z. Turner, luggage and leather goods; Dollard Ballard, opticians and optical goods; James V. Harbison, sporting goods; L. L. Austin, secretary-treasurer of local retail code authority.

The Atlanta Retail Code Authority has also received a ruling from the National Retail Code Authority to the effect that the fair trade practices provisions of the code regarding advertising and selling methods apply to closing-out sales, going-out-of-business sales, bankrupt and receivers' sales, or any sale of a like nature, either by auction or otherwise, and it shall be considered as false, inaccurate and misleading advertising and a violation of the code, if any merchandise whatever, except such as may be in transit, on order, or under firm contract, be added to the stock of merchandise which is on hand at the beginning of such sale.

INTERNAL REVENUE WORK IS EXPLAINED IN SPEECH BY PAGE

Operations of the department of internal revenue and its relation to other government activities were explained to members of the Kiwanis Club, by W. E. Page, internal revenue collector, at the Kiwanis luncheon Tuesday at the Ansley hotel.

He said that the government was organized like any other corporation, with the public its stockholders. It was the duty of his department, Mr. Page explained, to provide the funds for the government to operate on.

Mr. Page said that the department hitherto had been lenient on delinquent taxpayers, but in the last 30 days had tightened up, due to the fact that conditions are improving and that money is needed to carry on the recovery program. He ended with a eulogy of President Roosevelt and the accomplishment of his regime.

HENRY GRADY NAMES PAGE TO NEW POST

The management of the Henry Grady hotel Tuesday announced the appointment of James J. Page to the newly created post of promotional manager. Mr. Page will devote his time to touring the state and the south encouraging tourists visit and other travel to Atlanta.

His appointment, the first of its kind in the south, was announced by James De Jarnette, manager of the Henry Grady.

Of the total $82,000 will be expended for completing two contracts entered into for dredging the eight-foot channel, and $20,000 for continuing necessary maintenance operations.

1 KILLED, 3 INJURED IN BALTIMORE BLAST

BALTIMORE, Jan. 30.—(AP)—One man was killed and three others received injuries when an ammonia gas pipe in the National Brewing Company's plant here burst today. Fritz Stroebel died after being taken to the city hospital. The three who suffered injuries were Joseph McMasster, Walter Wittmer and Adolph Burgemeister.

Huey, in Great Form on Senate Floor, Asks Investigation of Investigation

By HARRY FERGUSON.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(UP)—Senator Huey Long, back from New Orleans political wars, formally requested the senate today to investigate the people whose investigation caused the senate investigation of Louisiana politics.

If that sounds involved, so did Huey's two-and-a-half-hour speech, in which he patrolled the pages of the past from Plato's republic up to the historic occasion when the Long forces extracted 1,400 faulty teeth from the jaws of inmates of Louisiana insane asylums. The senator hinted that Plato and that unparalleled feat of mass dentistry would be on the same pedestal when historians of the future buckled down to work.

Huey offered a resolution calling on Vice President Garner to name a committee of five to learn who was putting up the money "for this anti-Long campaign." Among his foes he listed Mrs. Hilda Phelps Hammond, every manufacturer in the United States, John D. Rockefeller Jr., the newspapers of Louisiana and the United States internal revenue bureau. He added that he wasn't afraid of any of 'em.

"Why," he shouted, "I've been holding public office for 18 years and there ain't been a time when someone or kick me out of office. I used to worry about it, but I ain't going to cry any more. I was born into politics, a wedded man with a storm for a bride."

Huey was arrayed in the pigments of autumn—brown suit, brown shoes, brown socks and maroon necktie. His red hair fitted into that scheme as smoothly as a vote for Long in a Louisiana ballot box. He began by pushing his coat sleeves up to his elbows, revealing the sleeves of a freshly starched shirt. Will Rogers, who makes his living being funny, sat in the gallery and giggled his head violently.

Huey began by pointing out how much better things were in Louisiana since he had served as governor. Among his accomplishments:

The extraction of the 1,400 teeth in four days; putting the penitentiary, which had been losing $1,000,000 yearly, on a paying basis by "putting more people in it;" lowering electric light rates; building roads at less than half of what it cost his predecessors.

"So," he summed up, "while I don't claim to be no better than anybody else in politics, I ain't no worse, and I'll add that I ain't ever seen anybody any better than I am."

He waved aside the senate investigating committee's findings that Senator Overton had been elected "through the damnable practice of using dummy candidates" by explaining that Overton was "as clean as an angel's ghost." Dummy candidates were used in lots of states, Long said, and politics in general was no polite tea party.

"Both of you do it," he said, "republicans and democrats. Before the last election I was asked to raise $15,000 for President Roosevelt's campaign or else they would have to close up Louisiana headquarters because they couldn't pay the stenographers. So I went out and raised $15,000."

Huey read a page from Plato's Republic, which he said, indorsed his theory that wealthy ought to be redistributed. Will Rogers walked out.

MORE PROGRESS MADE BY MELVIN TRAYLOR

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Despite a slight rise in temperature today, physicians attending Melvin A. Traylor, banker, said they were "well satisfied" with his condition.

The First National bank president, ill with pneumonia for two weeks, was able to take nourishment, and the doctors noted a marked improvement in his breathing.

SHORTER WORK HOURS SEEN AS JOB SOLUTION

Further Cut Urged by Perkins as Only Means of Solving Problem.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Shorter working hours were described today by Miss Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, as the only means of permanently countering unemployment.

Addressing the United Mine Workers of America, the Roosevelt cabinet member also urged wages adequate to guarantee the worker's security and provision for more leisure.

Conditions, she said, appear to be improving as a result of NRA codes and other recovery measures. "Every man and woman in this country who is willing and able to work needs to be permanently and securely employed," Miss Perkins asserted. "I am convinced that we cannot do this, that we cannot maintain permanent and secure employment, except by a short work day and a short work week."

"We have come to the point where we can afford to do this, for we have by the invention of machinery found a way of making those things which we need for our comfort and for our civilization without so much human labor."

AUSTRALIAN MOB BURNS 3 HOTELS AND 15 HOUSES

MORE TRAINS TO HAVE CARS AIR-CONDITIONED

MAN, WOMAN JAILED IN WAR ON ROBBERIES

Brother and Sister Alleged To Be Members of Gang Arrested Sunday.

Intensifying their search for bandits following a new series of robberies, the police Tuesday arrested a man and a woman, alleged members of a gang which was rounded up Monday.

The man and the woman gave their names as Johnnie Bohannon and Birdie May Wright, brother and sister. The girl is said to be the sweetheart of Roy DeLoach, who is under arrest in Newport, Tenn., in connection with robberies which the police say James Bullington, one of those under arrest, has confessed. Others under arrest are Bullington's father, B. T. Bullington, and Dan and Allen DeLoach, brothers, of an Orange street address. The Bullingtons and the DeLoachs are being held in the DeKalb county jail. The younger Bullington Tuesday pointed out to detectives nine additional Druid Hills homes which he says were robbed by members of the gang. Meanwhile, as the police were searching for bandits who committed two robberies on the West Side Monday night, another holdup was reported. Mrs. Bessie Glassman, who operates a grocery at 320 Mary street, reported that she was held up by a white man Tuesday afternoon. The bandit obtained $8 and fled as he was being fired on by E. Ware, negro janitor of a near-by school, who noted him running away from the grocery.

The robberies Monday night were at an A&P store at 747 Marietta street and at the Hemphill Pharmacy, Hemphill and Tenth street. Bandits obtained $226 in the holdups. No trace of these robbers was found.

CANADIAN LEG-TAG IS FOUND ON DOVE KILLED IN GEORGIA

Proof that doves do migrate and migrate far was furnished Tuesday by Dr. Robert L. Deane, prominent Atlanta physician, who, until recently, did not know the fact himself.

While on a hunting trip recently near Pelham, Dr. Deane shot and killed a mourning dove. Tied to the dove's leg was a request to communicate with Jack Miner, Canadian naturalist, at Kingsville, Ont. Dr. Deane did. Tuesday he received a letter from Mr. Miner saying that the dove was tagged at Kingsville in August, of last year. It migrated nearly to the gulf. The bird was killed 10 days ago. On the hunting party with Dr. Deane were Dr. Harvey H. Payne, Dr. R. P. Simpson, Dr. D. R. Linder, Dr. H. J. Reeves, Dr. A. L. King and H. W. Thwait, of Atlanta, and Jack Payne, Pelham banker.

YEOMANS REQUESTED TO REPRESENT SUTTON

Dr. J. M. Sutton, ousted state veterinarian, Tuesday called upon Attorney-General M. J. Yeomans as a state official to represent him in a mandamus action he said he plans against Commissioner of Agriculture G. C. Adams in an attempt to force Adams to recognize him as veterinarian. Dr. Sutton and his attorney, Paul Lindsay, were in conference with Judge Yeomans for nearly an hour.

The veterinarian said that the attorney-general made no decision on his request, promising to have another conference with him and Lindsay later. Dr. Sutton already has been denied an injunction preventing Adams from interfering with him.

ACCOUNTANTS OFFER STANDARD WORDING

A standard wording for the selling-below-cost provisions in industrial codes has been suggested by the National Association of Cost Accountants. A standard provision, local code authorities agreed, would do much to simplify opinion and confusion which now exists in this connection. The suggested wording is as follows: "It shall be an unfair method of competition for anyone coming under the provisions of this code to sell or exchange products or services at a price or upon such terms and conditions as will result in the customer paying less than the fair and reasonable cost, as determined on the basis of a system of cost accounting to be formulated by the code authority. 'Cost' is defined for this purpose as the sum of material or merchandise at current replacement cost, plus actual wages for direct and indirect labor, plus factory burden distributed on a basis of utilization of plant facilities for the industry as recommended by the code authority, plus selling, advertising, administration, warehousing, transportation, collection and all other costs and expenses involved in selling, distributing and delivering the merchandise, including in burden or expense allowance for depreciation and/or depletion and/or obsolescence and/or amortization, computed according to the rates and upon bases acceptable for federal income tax purposes. Provided, however, that sales below cost may be made to meet the prices of competitors who do not violate the code.

Exceptions, peculiar to a particular industry, such as seconds, dropped lines, etc.

This suggested wording is offered subject to the following conditions: "In no event should definition of cost produce less than the total delivered cost. The cost accounting questions of determining methods of distributing overhead, absorbing fixed charges, including interest on investment, and other debatable points, should not be comprehended in the code but should be worked out by the particular code authorities. The question of how to apply sales, administrative and all of the other expenses which are so difficult of apportionment can well be a matter to be determined by the industry itself, with government approval, and in all probability, if done uniformly, will substantially serve the purpose.

"The making of this recommendation does not imply any opinion as to the practicability or the impracticability of this clause to accomplish minimum selling prices or cost reduction. "In making this recommendation, no consideration has been given either for or against the clause granting exceptions, such as inclusion of a practical consideration in obtaining agreement among all the members of the industry rather than as a justifiable principle in theory. C. M. Watts Jr., of Retail Credit Company, president of the Atlanta chapter, stated that it was not the intent or desire of the National Association of Cost Accountants to dictate a standard or model provision to the NRA authorities. The purpose of this suggestion is merely to propose a standard or model wording expressing the ideas of qualified authorities in the industrial accounting field which may be used as the basis for the development of cost provisions for individual industries.

UNITED F. B. KEMP WILL BE HELD TODAY

The funeral of Frank B. Kemp, 51, superintendent of the Pullman Company here for several years, whose decapitated body was found on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad tracks at Towson, Md., Sunday, will be held at 11 o'clock this morning at Spring Hill chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son. Dr. Louis D. Newton will conduct the service. The place of interment will be announced.

Mr. Kemp had been a patient at the Enoch Pratt hospital at Towson for several months. He had obtained leave from the hospital to visit friends and presumably was returning when death resulted. Railroad policemen expressed the opinion he had been struck by a switch engine.

Capital Sees Mills' Speech As Bid for '36 Nomination

Rumor Spreads Despite Republican Tendency To Soft-Pedal Talk of Candidates Yet.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS. WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Political circles of Washington today were inclined to regard the speech of former Secretary of the Treasury Ogden Mills at Topeka, Kan., last night, as his opening bid for the republican presidential nomination in 1936.

Generally both democrats and republicans took this view after reading his detailed criticism of the "new deal" and its many ramifications. It was the first extended political speech of Mr. Mills since about the 1932 campaign which saw him appear in the role of leading republican spokesman for former President Hoover.

Mr. Mills has been declared a potential candidate for the republican presidential nomination two years hence, although republicans generally are trying to soft-pedal talk of candidates at this time.

Whether he intends to do so or not, he therefore got the jump on some of the other republican presidential possibilities when he went to Kansas, center of the great agricultural west, to deliver his attack on the Roosevelt administration and his call to the republicans to rally in opposition particularly to making permanent the activities of the government under the emergency recovery program. But other prominent republicans are to take the platform—if not the stump—in the near future.

The birthday of Abraham Lincoln, February 12, will see a lot of them speaking in many different parts of the country. For example, Senator Arthur Vandenberg, of Michigan; Senator Hastings, of Delaware, the new chairman of the republican senatorial campaign committee; Senator Dickinson, of Iowa; Representative James W. Wadsworth Jr., of New York, all have been requested to deliver addresses on Lincoln's birthday and most of them, if not all, will.

Senator Vandenberg is journeying to his home in Grand Rapids, to make a speech on that occasion. Chairman Everett Sanders, of the republican national committee, may make an address, too, on Lincoln's birthday, although it has not yet been scheduled.

Notwithstanding the fact that President Roosevelt and his administration appears at the present time to be on the top of the wave, with a control of the government more secure than any administration for years and a popularity of large dimensions throughout the country, the republicans are stirring and planning. More particularly are republican activities in the individual states getting under way after an almost complete cessation during the last year.

During Mr. Callis' administration here chapels have been erected by his church all over the south. The mission white station was recently led up to the gates of the equestrian dictator's private residence, Villa Torlonia. It was presented to the Duce by Herr Rintelen, the Austrian minister, as a gift from Chancellor Dollfus.

BROWN'S TRADING IN STOCKS BARED

Former Postmaster-General Revealed as Silent Partner of Agent.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Testimony that Walter F. Brown, former postmaster-general, was a silent partner in a million-dollar stock account with the late Joseph H. Bagley, agent for a company seeking government floor orders, was given today to the senate air mail investigating committee.

The story of the account with G. M. P. Murphy & Company, was first related by Alfred W. Moran, an employee, who merely identified it as "B-50" and as having been operated in Bagley's name.

After Moran had described it as showing a loss of $1,430,741 at one time, L. B. Peters, Bagley's secretary, told the committee of Brown's participation, and added that Brown was in Bagley's office "frequently" in 1929 and 1930, during the life of the joint stock operation.

Bagley's Connections. Bagley, Peters said, was vice president of the American Bank Note Company, and during this time also was representing Bruce & Company, flooring manufacturers seeking orders for material for government buildings. He also was agent for a manufacturer of a wood preservative used in ship-building, the former secretary said.

The disclosure of Brown's alleged stock market operations followed a sharp cross-examination of Postmaster-General James A. Farley by Senator Austin, republican, Vermont, about a trip to Texas in a plane owned by the aviation corporation.

Farley said, "I'll never do it again." Details of the stock account, as given by Alfred C. Flather, associate manager of the Murphy Washington corporation, disclosed that Brown owned 5,000 shares of International Mercantile Marine preferred at one time and 8,200 shares of American Bank Note common at another.

Purchases $1,500,000. Total purchases of the account in 1929 and 1930, Flather said, reached approximately $1,500,000, with sales of about the same amount.

When Bagley died in November, 1932, Flather said, Brown was made the residuary legatee of his estate. "I assume the fact that I haven't made any change might be construed as an approval up to the present time," Farley replied to a question by Austin as to whether he had made any changes in mail contracts since taking office.

Old Practice. After Austin had questioned him for some time about postoffice officials riding free in planes of companies having mail contracts, Farley agreed it had been the practice "according to the terms of the contracts" for "the government."

The democratic political chieftain said the trip he and others, including postoffice officials, made to Texas last October had been to deliver on Fort Worth postoffice, and as such "official business."

"I had a gentleman from Texas in my department who made the arrangements," he said, "for when the official of the Aviation Corporation before appointment to the government."

"Did your trip to Texas include the attending of horse racing at Arlington Downs?" Austin asked.

"Yes, it did," DENIES PRESENTS. Questioned as to the reception accorded him in Texas and "presents" given to him, Farley said his party had been met by a fleet of planes at Fort Worth, but denied receiving any.

"Everybody who goes there gets a Texas hat," he added. "They took our other ones away."

Farley told the committee that payments for carrying air mail had been reduced 31 per cent since he took office, but agreed with Austin that the reduction had come after congress had scaled down the appropriation.

The $25 a month which the democratic national committee had been paying until recently to L. L. Johns and James Maher, postoffice stenographers, who testified to the destruction of Brown's correspondence, was characterized by Farley as "super money."

"These boys were working late for me," he explained.

86 Fire Alarms in 48-Hour Period Set Record for Local Department

There was very little time for check-ups to the home of I. A. Watson, at 980 Katherine drive Tuesday morning, when the fire alarm sounded. Inman Watson Jr., 12, had started to school and dashed back to his parents' breakfast table to tell them the house was burning. The roof was burned off two back bedrooms when firemen got the blaze under control.

The Watsons decided that a spark ignited a bird's nest in the base of the chimney, setting off the blaze. A spectacular fire in a vacant house at 345 Capitol avenue, S. W., early Tuesday morning engaged four fire companies under Chief Parker for many minutes before the firemen succeeded in confining damage to the one house.

William F. Rosenblatt Jr., residing at 90 Inman Circle, lost a number of chickens to a blaze that consumed a chicken house in rear of his residence. Other birds got their feathers scorched. Considerable damage was done to a three-story apartment house at 156 Seventh street, N. E., at about noon Tuesday. Firemen reported that the cause apparently was the ignition of a piece of timber from a fireplace.

Mysterious Malady Is Pneumonia In New Form, Grady Doctors Find

Deadly streptococcus germs, found in the substances exuded from the lungs of three infants whose deaths attracted attention to a mysterious malady carrying some of the symptoms of diphtheria, Tuesday gave the Grady hospital laboratory its first clue, pneumonia.

Although the three small patients each exhibited the choking symptom common to diphtheria or whooping cough, the germs of these diseases were not found present, it was said. The disease owes its mystery not to the cause of death but to the unusualness of presentment, it was said.

Autopsies were performed in the three cases, and the cheese-like or wax-like substances found in the bronchial tubes is undergoing a thorough examination in the laboratory. As to the manner of infection, physicians said that the streptococcus germs are received into the lungs the same as influenza germs, by breathing.

None of the patients in whom the mysterious substance has been found was over two years of age. Physicians at Grady hospital said that they have never before heard of the peculiar excretion from the lungs, and that they are interested to know if there is any record of such a condition in medical history.

TIME IS EXTENDED FOR COTTON CUTS

Sign-Up Drive for Crop Reduction to Continue Until Feb. 15.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Secretary Wallace tonight extended the closing date for the sign-up campaign for 1934-35 cotton production control contracts to February 15.

In postponing the closing date from January 31, Wallace said the action was due to "unavoidable delays in sending necessary supplies to field workers and in the work of county organizations in pooling cotton options and carrying on other sign-up activities."

He also ruled that the minimum lint production per acre requirement would be reduced from 100 pounds to 75 pounds to allow signing of contracts by farmers whose production had not reached the former limitation during the base period.

Oscar Johnston, director of the administration's cotton option plan, in a radio address tonight asserted "so much misinformation is being circulated and so much speculation is being indulged in, usually by persons with no basic information on the subject," that he would seek to give cotton producers accurate information regarding the progress of the acreage reduction campaign.

Reports from the field "are highly satisfactory and indicate that it is the purpose of at least 30 per cent of the producers of cotton to sign the 1934-35 contract pledging an average acreage reduction of 40 per cent under the 5-year normally planted acreage," he said, adding the administration "entertains not the slightest doubt" of producers' intentions to bring about such reduction.

CITY AFFECTION ATTESTED BY BALLS

show which moved from party to party.

The program revolved around the party at the Shrine mosque, where Maj. General George Van Horn Moseley, commander of the fourth corps army area, and Mrs. Moseley led the grand march which inaugurated the floor show.

Beautifully-gowned women and their handsomely-attired escorts swept over the mosque ballroom floor in the modern dance numbers as Perry Bechtel and his orchestra warmed up for a merry evening. At the Standard Club, similar crowds kept time to the music of Doug Youngblood and his boys, and at Peachtree Gardens, the crowds thrilled to the music of Pete Underwood and his orchestra.

Immediately after the president closed his address, the various orchestras played patriotic airs, and, at the mosque, the grand march was started. The couples circled the great ballroom several times, ending in a magnificent march up the middle of the floor.

In a cleared space, the floor show at the mosque got under way with 16 girls performing. The Nira girls put on chorus and specialty numbers, and, closing their act, went in succession to the Standard Club and to Peachtree Gardens, while succeeding acts, including the McCoy Singers and Graham Jackson, came on. Commander Jesse Draper, general chairman of the Atlanta committee, expressed his gratification over the turnout for the birthday celebration, and voiced his thanks for the splendid co-operation given by the various subcommittee chairmen and their committee members.

A. R. Madison, chairman of the ticket sales, said that the response from the public was splendid, and that the definite figures will be released as soon as a check-up can be made.

Telegram Sent Roosevelt. General Chairman Draper Tuesday night sent the following telegram to President Roosevelt:

"Thousands of infants pause in the midst of our celebration of your 52d birthday to extend to you our heartiest congratulations and best wishes. We take pride in having a part in building an endowment fund for Warm Springs Foundation. May your future birthdays be many and happy."

Entire South Does Part. Other southern cities did themselves proud and the negro population also did its part in celebrating the birthday of the president.

At Warm Springs, where hundreds of infantile paralysis victims are fighting their way back to health after an attack of infantile paralysis, and where the Warm Springs Foundation has been organized to carry on the battle against the disease, the neighbors and friends of the master of the Little White House celebrated with a party. The Warm Springs Foundation is the beneficiary of proceeds from the nation-wide entertainment.

A square dance by patients in wheel chairs shared honors with the cutting of a seven-foot fruit cake and the performance of a trained dog. President Roosevelt observed his fifty-first birthday at Warm Springs, cutting his birthday cake in the presence of the children of the foundation.

In Washington, government officials attended a stately ball and throughout the nation rural communities did their part with just as much earnestness as the larger centers of population. In fact, many of the nation's cities, Rome, Manila and other world capitals, American colonies joined in the celebration.

He was a son of the late Thomas Jefferson Horne and Mattie Forest Horne, born February 6, 1870, near Metcalfe on the family plantation. Surviving is his wife, before her marriage, Miss Rosa Vann, to whom he was married May 28, 1907, and four children, Mrs. Gladys Ferguson, Mrs. Greene Alday, James W. Horne Jr. and Miss Evelyn Horne, all of this city, and four grandchildren; three brothers, Elmer T. and Olin S. Horne, of Metcalfe; Edwin F. Horne, of Thomasville, and two sisters, Mrs. George W. Swift, of this city, and Mrs. H. F. Smith, of Metcalfe, also survive.

STEEL EARNINGS INCREASE IN 1933

But Decrease Is Shown in Figures for Fourth Quarter.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—(P)—While reporting a decline in earnings of the United States Steel Corporation in the fourth quarter of 1933, Myron C. Taylor, chairman, today pointed to an improvement over the preceding year and said it was anticipated that output will be substantially bettered in 1934.

The decline in earnings in the final three months of last year, after the sharp improvement in the preceding quarterly period, had been indicated by the decline in ingot production, but it failed to reduce the company's gross earnings to the extremely low levels of the like quarter of 1932.

The report was made public following the quarterly directors' meeting, at which another 50-cent quarterly dividend was ordered on the $7 cumulative preferred stock. The regular dividend of $1.75 was cut to 50 cents a year ago.

Operating Earnings.

Operating earnings for the December quarter, after ordinary expenses, totaled $5,537,084 against $11,818,832 in the September quarter and $3,298,272 in the final quarter of 1932.

After interest, depreciation, depletion and other charges, the corporation had a deficit for the quarter of $7,945,415 contrasted with losses of $2,717,014 in the third quarter and $16,729,368 in the 1932 December quarter.

After deducting preferred dividend payments the deficit for the December quarter was $9,746,850 against $4,518,419 in the previous period and $18,530,773 in the last three months of 1932.

Only in respect to the figures for 1932 did the report show up favorably.

Deficit Incurred.

Preliminary figures showed that the corporation in 1933 incurred a total deficit of $43,724,900 against a deficit of $90,186,557 in 1932. These figures were after all charges and

The fourth quarter figures for United States Steel failed to make the favorable showing that Bethlehem Steel Corporation did in its report published last week, which showed the company out of the red for the first time in two years.

Taylor in a statement issued with the quarterly report, explained that the falling off in earnings was in harmony with a reduction in shipments and a slower rate of operations.

The operations in the fourth quarter, Taylor said, based on production of finished products for sale was 23 per cent less than in the third quarter, the reduction in tonnage being 457,548 tons. For the entire year 1933 production of finished steel products was 29 per cent of capacity against 18 per cent in 1932, or 5,543,000 tons against 3,591,000 tons.

Greece Grants Insull Respite of 10 Days

ATHENS, Jan. 30.—(P)—On his plea that he is too ill to travel, the Greek government decided today that Samuel Insull may stay here 10 days longer before seeking another haven. His residence permit was to have expired at midnight tomorrow when government officials had previously said he would leave the country.

The former Chicago utilities operator, whose return the United States government has sought twice in connection with the collapse of the Irish utilities, was granted the extension after the Greek premier and interior minister considered a doctor's report on the aged man's condition.

Two government physicians examined Insull and found his heart was unable to stand travel, but reported that

$304,155,582 Overdue
On World War Debts

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(P)—The treasury department reported to the senate today that $304,155,582 is overdue to the United States under the World War debt funding agreements, but that $15,385,109 of the total resulted from the Hoover moratorium.

Responding to a resolution asking for a report on the status, the treasury said the debts to the United States from foreign governments totaled $12,710,451,610, of which $12,524,988,355 was covered by funding agreements.

Of the $304,155,582 unpaid according to the agreement, the treasury said $76,738,995 was principal, $212,031,477 was interest and $15,855,109 was unpaid under the moratorium agreement.

Altogether, counting the $357,053,54 for which no agreements had

I like to see readers who are interested enough to bring in specimens

They are enthusiastic after having begun the study of salamanders and, frankly, there is no other approach to natural history so easy to take as the beginning made with salamanders. They are easy to find, easy to observe, and above all, easy to keep.

Winship Chapel Is Setting For Huffman-Proctor Wedding

MR. AND MRS. ELWYNNE BLAIR PROCTOR JR.

Lovely Miss Anne Wingard Huffman and Elwynne Blair Proctor Jr., of New York city, formerly of Atlanta, were married at a quiet ceremony at 3:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at Winship Memorial chapel of the First Presbyterian church. Dr. J. Sproule Lyons performed the ceremony in the presence of members of the families and a few close friends.

Simplicity was reflected in the effective decoration of the chapel, where lustrous dark-foliated palms and ferns were banded at the altar and lighted tapers burned in three seven-branched candelabra interspersed among the plants.

Hugh Hodgson, organist, was in charge of the musical program, playing selections which are particular favorites of the couple. Preceding the ceremony he played "At Dawning" by Cadman, and "To an Evening Star" from Tannhauser. During the ceremony "The Venetian Love Song" was played, and the wedding march from the prelude to "Lohengrin" was used, while Mendelssohn's wedding march was played as the recessional.

Miss Byron Huffman, who attended her sister as maid of honor, wore a striking Vionnet model of chartreuse green moss crepe, self-trimmed and made on plain lines. Her wide-brimmed hat was of brown felt crepe and her accessories were in brown. She carried a muff of brown tulle topped by a spray of talisman roses and baby's breath tinted yellow. Robert Denner Johnston, of Knoxville, Tenn., cousin of the bridegroom, acted as best man.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, Hill R. Huffman, presented a picture of loveliness in her gown of linbeige moss crepe, a Vionnet model, which was cut on princess lines, featuring a high oval neckline in front made with long ends lined with dark brown which was tied at the back. Tiny self-covered buttons were used from the neck to the waistline in the back. The long straight sleeves were finished at the wrists with flared cuffs lined with brown, and the graceful skirt fell to ankle length. Her smart hat was a combination of brown straw and silk made with a narrow brim and her other accessories were in brown. She carried a brown tulle muff adorned with a cluster of purple orchids and valley lilies.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Elwynne Blair Proctor Sr., parents of the bridegroom, entertained the immediate families and out-of-town guests at ten at their home on The Prado. Mrs. Proctor was gowned in black flat crepe trimmed with padlock green and silver cloth and worn with black hat and accessories. Her shoulder spray was of gardenias. Mrs. Hill R. Huffman, mother of the bride, wore a gown of navy blue crepe with organza trim and worn with a matching hat and accessories. She wore a cluster of gardenias. The bridegroom's younger sister, Miss Mary Lucille Proctor, was gowned in aquamarine blue crepe. The bride's sister, Miss Margaret Huffman, was gowned in navy blue worn with blue accessories while her other sister, Miss Clara Belle Huffman, was in brown with matching accessories.

Mr. Proctor and his bride left after the tea for New York city where they will reside. For traveling, Mrs. Proctor donned a suit of maroon brown crepe finished at the neckline with a pleated ruffle of eggshell crepe, which added a becoming note.
